

Geneva Health Forum 2024 Conference: Call for Abstracts Now Open!

We are excited to announce the Call for Abstracts for the Geneva Health Forum 2024 Conference, a premier event that will run from May 27 to 29, 2024, alongside the World Health Assembly. This conference serves as a pivotal gathering providing a unique platform for scientific community and civil society to address critical global health challenges.

Conference Theme:

Health, a Common Good! 🌍

At the forefront of the World Health Organization's (WHO) strategic priorities is the pursuit of universal healthcare coverage. In an era marked by growing disparities in health outcomes worldwide, we are confronted with the limitations of market-driven approaches to ensure equitable access to healthcare. In response, the WHO is advocating for the development of "common goods for health." This concept extends beyond mere access, emphasizing community engagement and the consideration of social and environmental determinants of health.

The Geneva Health Forum 2024 conference will deepen this vision of health as a common good, fostering discussion on societal responsibility, equity, and sustainability across three pivotal domains:

1. Towards the Elimination of Malaria
2. Migration, Health, and Equity
3. Health and Environment: Time for Solutions

To learn more about the conference themes and submission guidelines, please visit <https://conference2024.genevahealthforum.com>

Key Dates:

- ❖ Call for abstracts opens: October 1, 2023
- ❖ Call for abstracts closes: December 15, 2023
- ❖ Decision notifications: January 31, 2024
- ❖ GHF2024 dates: May 27-29, 2024

Don't miss this unique opportunity to be part of a global dialogue on health as a common good and the imperative for change.

Join us at the Geneva Health Forum 2024 Conference and make your mark on the future of global health!